I have permission from the Civil Aviation Authority and hold their PfCO (Permission for Commercial Operations), which allows me to perform this kind of commercial work, I also hold full public liability insurance for peace of mind. As part of my service, prior to the flight I carry out remote surveys and complete risk assessments of each job, as well as checking airspace regulations to ensure I can operate within legal guidelines, as safety is my primary concern. Flights over densely populated areas near to main roads are generally not ideal because of the risks involved, so my service is primarily focused towards larger properties with enough land for safe takeoff and landing zones.

All prices include VAT, pre-flight surveys and safety checks and give you the full copyright to all media. No travel expenses shall be incurred providing the job is within 50 miles of Newcastle/ Stoke on Trent, outside of this will be discussed directly. Landowner's permission must be obtained prior to flight. Being the pilot in charge on the day I will have the final decision if the flight is safe to go ahead, taking into consideration any risks, hazards and poor weather conditions. Should I have to cancel flights, every effort will be made to re-schedule at no extra charge. Flights cancelled by the client within 48 hours of the specified date will be charged at 50% of the original cost.
