

About Us

RIAH is a high end wedding and events planning company based in London, United Kingdom. RIAH is driven by the passion to always help people and the ability to plan and manage effectively and the joy of hosting events.

We are a multi cultural events management, knowledgeable of our diverse client background and cultures and adaptable to their style and request.

Our motto is LUXURY, UNITY and COMMITMENT as we ensure that any event you set out to have is elegant, stress free and beautifully tailored to you by providing a luxurious experience you and your guests will never forget. We are committed to you throughout the planning and execution as we are not doing it just for you but with you.

Be it wedding, baby shower, bridal shower, birthday party, engagement party or any corporate events, my team and I will structure your ideas into a plan and coordinate every aspect of the event to make sure your event runs smoothly. We will consult with you on our ideas in relation to yours, and give you a clear picture of a strategic plan that gets you value for your money. We will also keep you up to date in every aspect of the event so you are never caught unaware.

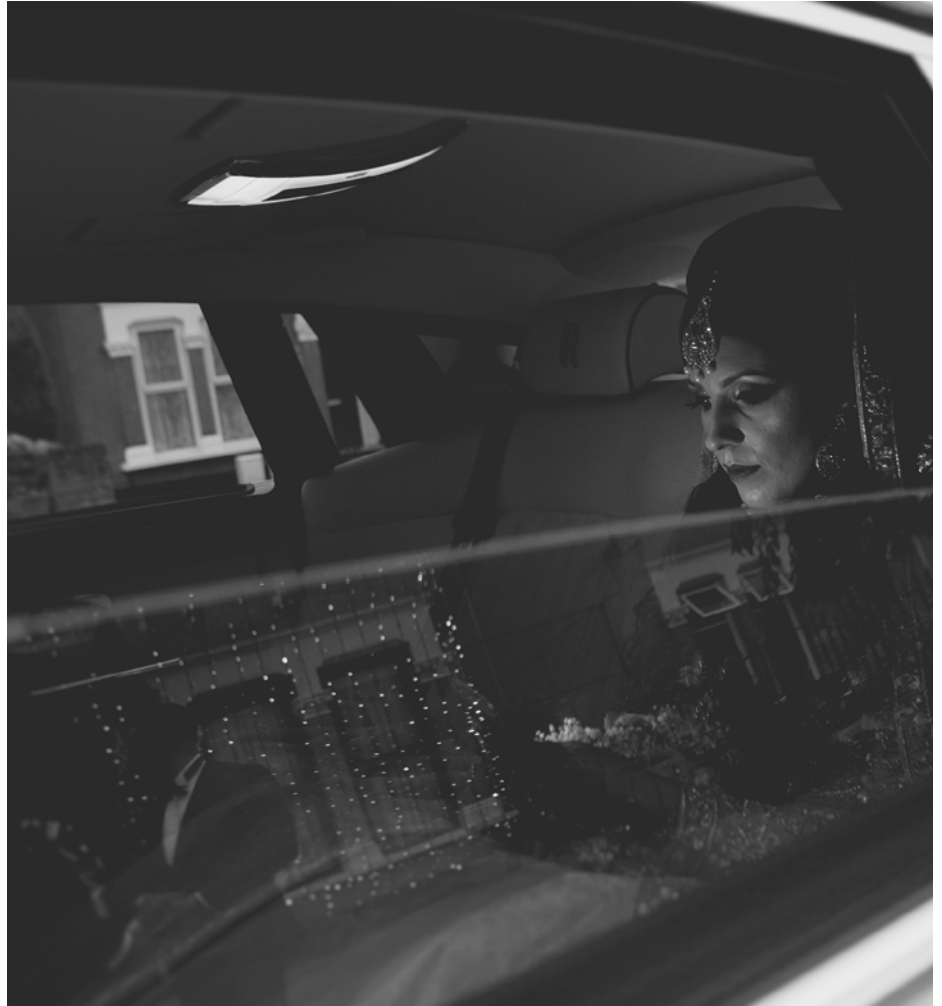

Our Approach

We offer a complimentary initial face to face consultation as we believe all events are personal and we would like to discuss your needs and interest which will assist us in planning a meaningful and elegant event.

Prior to the complimentary consultation, we present you with a proposal with all acquired information for you to review.

Once happy with our proposal, we provide an agreement to be signed by you 'our client' and us 'your planner'

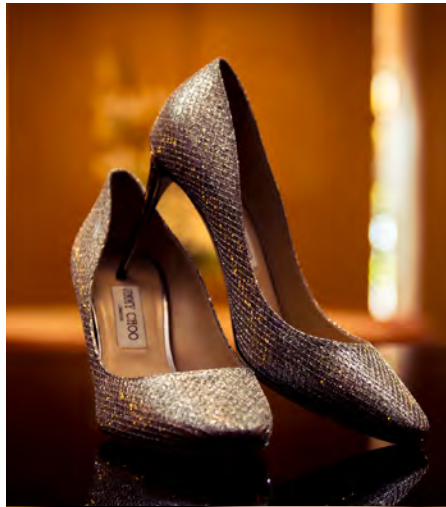

The fun then begins!

Weddings

Weddings are spectacular, magical even, and they are memorable moments in time.

It is a celebration of romance shown by a life long commitment to another for as long as they live. It is a representation of a classic fairy tale, and like all fairy tales before their glorious ending there's usually a test, a quest to be had. The same can be said of the precursor to one's big wedding day. Speaking from first hand experience as a married woman, I can say that planning for a wedding is demanding, it can be painfully aggravating, and time consuming but like I said earlier about fairy tales, the challenges all leads up to a glorious purpose. RIAH is designed to take up those challenges, conquer that quest of planning, set up, management and huge decision making, while we leave you to enjoy the fairy tale ending you truly deserve. We know weddings like the back of our hands, we know about the burden to prepare for one and we know of the joy when it comes down to that day, this is why we are the ideal choice for you.
